INVESTMENT COMMENTARY

Despite intensified and negative geopolitical events, July was fairly calm from a macro perspective. The Federal Reserve once again confirmed the progress being made in reducing inflation, indicating that a cut in interest rates is not far off.

As we anticipated, this was positive for the US real estate market in July, helping the absolute performance of the sector year to date.

The fund's best performer was the US real estate service provider CBRE after delivering a strong report with upped guidance for the second quarter. The second best performer was American Tower, which also delivered a positive report and guidance, also helped by expectations of lower interest rates ahead.

The fund's worst performer was the Brazilian logistics operator LOG Commercial Properties.

SKAGEN m2 mainly focuses on resilient companies in trend driven subsegments that are mispriced, can perform in various market conditions, have solid balance sheets and inflation-adjusted contracts. After underperforming the wider equity market for another year, we believe the outlook for global real estate in 2024 – with a potentially more favourable interest rate environment as a backdrop – should bring with it lots of exciting opportunities for long-term stock pickers like SKAGEN m2.
