AI enters the mainstream

Global equity markets continued to scale the proverbial 'wall of worry' as growing excitement surrounding the potential of artificial intelligence (AI) more than offset the growing body of evidence pointing towards a continued slowdown in the global economy. Emerging Market equities (again) trailed those of developed markets as the lacklustre COVID-recovery in China continued to disappoint. While we expect pent-up demand, especially for consumer services, to be released over time, it is increasingly clear that the structural headwinds related to excess debt and a still-fragile property market will necessitate further stimulus in China.

On a more positive note, major Emerging Markets such as Taiwan and South Korea benefitted from their prominent positions in the technology value chain. With valuations still at reasonable levels, especially in South Korea, we expect this tailwind to remain in place. Within commodities, we have observed a growing bifurcation between a weakening of the most cyclically sensitive metals and oil compared with the relative stability of critical metals to deliver on the energy transition. This is no doubt helped by growing investments related to the inflation reduction act (IRA) in the US. It may therefore come as a surprise that Brazil was the best performing EM during the quarter, which we ascribe to the current high real rates and scope for easing monetary policy in the coming quarters.

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki again outperformed its benchmark in Q2, marking the fifth consecutive quarter of delivering excess returns. The fund benefitted from its overweight positioning in Brazil with both Raizen and Banco do Brasil making significant contributions during the quarter. Raizen is a leading bioenergy company with a vertically integrated business model and significant growth prospects thanks to its second-generation ethanol plants. We significantly increased our position during Q1 following site visits in January. Banco do Brasil has continued to perform well despite a tougher economic backdrop and weakening asset quality. We believe that the bank is well positioned thanks to its solid capital position and high profitability and can therefore capitalise on available growth opportunities, especially related to agribusiness. Our larger South Korean holdings Samsung Electronics and LG Electronics also made significant contributions during Q2. The memory market has been in a protracted downcycle, but we believe it is close to the bottom. As the largest and most diversified memory producer, we expect Samsung Electronics to continue to benefit from the secular growth in computing needs and broader application of AI. LG Electronics has also suffered falling revenues in recent quarters, but management has made significant progress in restoring profitability through better pricing architecture, cost savings and growing traction as an automotive supplier, especially within electric vehicles. Our recent visit to the company supported our positive view on its outlook. The main negative contributors were our large Chinese internet holdings, especially Alibaba and Prosus, whose main asset is its stake in Tencent. Although we had reduced our China exposure somewhat in Q1 following the rally from October 2022 lows, the portfolio was not immune to the weakness. Interestingly, Prosus and its parent company Naspers recently announced further plans to untangle their crossholdings and release value from the stake in Tencent. South African PGM miner Sibanye-Stillwater also performed poorly during the quarter, predominantly due to a significant drop in the prices of its key commodities palladium and platinum.

We made a few changes to the portfolio during the quarter. We exited Chinese home appliances manufacturer Hisense as the stock reached our target price following the launch of a management incentive plan. We also re-introduced Hungarian pharmaceutical company Richter Gedeon, which adds an attractive defensive characteristic to the portfolio. More recently, we initiated a position in Norwegian crop nutrition company Yara International. Yara is a global fertiliser company with a significant presence in Brazil and around half of sales generated in EM. The shares have come under pressure recently due to softening fertiliser prices and weak volumes at a time of elevated input costs. However, we see material room for improvement as the incentives for fertiliser use are significant and Yara's premium product portfolio offers it some insulation. The company has a solid balance sheet and strong through-cycle cash generation, which leaves it well placed to capitalise on the next upturn. At just 1x price to book, the shares are trading at their lowest level since 2016.

As a result, the SKAGEN Kon-Tiki portfolio now consists of 47 companies, excluding four Russian holdings currently valued at zero, with good diversification across geographies and sectors. Overall, the portfolio trades on just 7x 2023 earnings and 0.8x price to book, a 45% discount to the broader EM index. We continue to believe that the portfolio offers an attractive risk/reward proposition across a wide range of macro scenarios.
