Q3 commentary 2024

The third quarter has been all about the anticipated rebound for real estate in all the major real estate markets. Investors started to believe in the long-awaited first Fed rate cut in September, following those by the ECB and Swedish Riksbank amongst others.

In the US, real estate continues to outperform as interest rates decline and optimism grows for additional Fed rate cuts in 2024 and beyond. Unlike the fourth quarter of last year, the market has been more cautious about pricing in further rate cuts too quickly or too aggressively in the near term. Historically, real estate performs well following central bank tightening cycles. As we have previously noted, this could create a "perfect storm" for real estate, with potential rate cuts, a soft landing for the US economy, and real estate being the most underweighted sector. The recovery is underway, and we may be at the beginning of a multiyear expansion phase for the sector. As capital costs decrease and valuations rise, supported by favourable economic conditions, real estate fundamentals are likely to improve. Despite these positive trends, valuations remain below those of other sectors, creating opportunities to purchase assets well below replacement costs, which have been significantly impacted by inflation. Additionally, there are signs that transaction volumes are picking up, and capitalisation rates will likely compress as a result. We are still in a phase where public real estate appears undervalued relative to private real estate, though this gap should close as more transactional data becomes available. Furthermore, we have long argued that supply is being underestimated for the sector's future performance. Some segments and geographic areas have become scarce due to reduced development activity following COVID, inflation, and higher capital costs. In these constrained areas, new supply will require significant rent increases, which will continue to drive sector value. The month ended with a big surprise in the Chinese real estate market when the government launched a massive stimulus package with the aim of saving a sector that is critical to the country's economy. Real estate sector stocks skyrocketed as a result and caught up much of their lost ground.

The fund's top performer for the quarter was CBRE, a US-listed global real estate services company. This success was driven by a strong second-quarter report with raised guidance, as well as a notable rebound in the US real estate market following an interest rate cut. CBRE is expected to benefit from increased transaction activity and the growing institutionalization of commercial real estate, which we believe is driving long-term demand for real estate services. Additionally, the trend toward outsourcing, combined with a higher proportion of contractual fees, should enhance revenue stability and fuel growth. The second-best performer was Shurgard, a pan-European self-storage platform, which also delivered a strong report and issued positive guidance for the year, excluding the revenue from its recent acquisition of Lok'n Store. Earlier in the year, concerns about an equity raise due to the acquisition had weighed on the stock, but this risk has since diminished. The company continues to expand its land and asset portfolio, with a project pipeline larger than ever, supporting its future growth. LOG Commercial Properties, a Brazilian logistics operator, was the worst performer of the quarter. The company slightly missed its second-quarter earnings estimates, and the central bank of Brazil, unlike many others, raised interest rates, which negatively impacted the Brazilian real estate sector. Swedish discount retailer Prisma Properties, a recent addition to the portfolio, experienced a slow start, primarily due to a lack of news and activity following its IPO. However, at the close of the quarter, the company announced its first acquisition as a listed entity, which is expected to drive further growth alongside its development pipeline. In mid-July, there was a significant IPO in the real estate sector. Lineage Logistics, the world's largest operator of cold storage warehouses, raised USD 5.1 billion in the largest public offering of 2024 and the biggest REIT IPO ever. SKAGEN m2 holds Americold, Lineage's peer and a cheaper competitor. This IPO not only highlights the strength of the real estate capital markets but also underscores the growing interest in the cold storage subsector. Digital Bridge, the fund's worst performer in the first half of the year, rebounded in mid-September after rumours surfaced that Switch, a data centre operator acquired by Digital Bridge in 2022, might be taken public again with an estimated value of USD 40 billion, a significant increase from the USD 10.6 billion takeout value in 2022. Regardless of the outcome, this reflects the strong demand for digital real estate.

During the quarter, we exited our position in the US hospitality company Marcus Corp. Following a recovery in its share price over the summer, we grew increasingly concerned about potential challenges for US consumer spending and the impact of slowing GDP growth on the hospitality and leisure sectors.

SKAGEN m2 continues to focus on resilient companies in trend-driven subsegments that are undervalued, can perform in various market conditions, have strong balance sheets, and are well-positioned for inflationary environments. After a prolonged period of underperformance compared to the broader equity market, real estate is starting to catch up. This may mark the beginning of a multi-year expansion phase for the sector, with the initial phase driven by multiple expansion, followed by fundamental improvements as capital costs decrease and valuations rise. Against this backdrop, the sector should present numerous exciting opportunities for long-term stock pickers like SKAGEN m2. The portfolio is overweight in high-growth real estate segments such as digital real estate, housing, and warehouses, all of which benefit from structural demand shifts and a favourable yield curve as we enter a lower interest rate environment. Real estate is the world's largest asset class—don't overlook it!
